The party is in-delibly stained with the rebellion. in the way of nominating soldiers and complimenting the President, its old ander" in the matter of future engage-adherents are but very partially concil-ments. Nowhere has it achieved a success since the close of the war. All the States have voted it down. After having tried all along the line in the hopes of finding an entrance to a reactionary popularity, the experiment has falled. And it will fall, more or less decidedly, clear through. Practically it is an allen party in the loyal States. The hopes of succeed there as in former times no one can now say. A great deal will be owing to the next Congress. They have some decided advantages to start with in the South. The feeling of kin between the leaders North and the old leaders South, recently leading reb-els, cannot help manifesting itself. A fusion between them follows naturally. But a fusion between the leaders does not insure a popular following for any length of time. The conditions favor-able to such a following are not as they used to be. The Democratic party be-fore the war was the absolute, dominant and exclusive party of the South. Why? Because it was the party of slavery; the Cuban annexation party; the Nicaragua fillibustering party; the Ostend Manifesto party; the re-open ing of the Slave trade party; the State Sovereignty and right of Secession party. All these attributes it had. All or them it vaunted in the face of the wrecked remnant of the Old Whig party in the Cotton States. The Demo-cratic party was the Hapsburg family in South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas. It controlled free speech absolutely, and gainsaying of any kind was but barely permitted. As for instance, if egged Douglas after his Norfolk speech, while in Mobile. It found indictments even in West Virginia against subscribers to the New York Tribune, and men suspected of circulating the Helper book

The Southern young men are in a condition to learn with rapidity. Their schooling in the army has not been in vain. Mind against mind, with all its attritions, has quickened and educated them. The war and all its antecedents are better understood now among these men than any of us imagine. Hence seed can be sown in the South that will bear fruit almost at once. In five years the South will be a land of universal labor, of free newspapers, of free school systems, of newly settled immigrats from the North, and will have commenced to grow in population, in wealth, and in intelligence, as no section of the Union has ever grown. That which we have known as Southern "democracy" will never flourish and will be no political South any because II the way have been allowed by about the proportions.

The Attorney General has selected the connected on much Mohamedanism. There will be no political South any bears of the sump was respectable by reason of its power and formidable proportions.

ELECTION RETURNS.

We have the following returns from the election held last Thursday.

HARRISON COUNTY—OFFICIAL,

[Special dispatch to the Intelligencer.]

CLARKSBURG, Oct. 28.

The official yole of Harrison county tands as follows:

Senate—Werninger, (Un) 1008; Haymond, (independent) 751:—Werninger's waln't yet.

mond, (independent) 701:—" majority 257.

House of Delegates—Goff (Un)*1119;
Hisming (Un) 1050; Boggess (dem.) 853;
Davis (dem.) 845 votes.
The county voted as follows in 1864;
Lincoln, 1823; McClellan, 863. Showing that the democracy polled their full vote, while the Union strength was not all out.

WETZEL COUNTY.

We have no advices except from Littleton, in this county, and we are informed that we need not expect the official vote for several days. Littleton advises us that the majority for Clarke (Dem) over Burley (Union) will be fully 400. The vote at the Presidential election stood Lincoln 329; McClellan 756. TYLER COUNTY.

SISTERSVILLE, Oct. 28.

Editors Intelligencer:

It is believed this county has given a majority for Johnson (Independent) for House of Delegates, over Wells the regular Union nominee. Haymond also beats Werninger for the Senate. We hear from Eitchie and Harrison, however, that Werninger is undoubtedly elected in the district. Lincoln and Union townships in this county give Wells 162 against 140 for Johnson.
